ANNOUNCEMENTS

NINTH NATIONAL MEETING. Bloomington, Indiana will be the site of the Ninth National Meeting of LASA. The convention will take place on Friday, October 17 through Sunday, October 19, 1980 on the Indiana University campus with local arrangements under the direction of Professor Emilio Morán and other staff and faculty of the Latin American Studies Program.

This will be a joint meeting with the Midwest Association of Latin American Studies (MALAS) and the first joint meeting which LASA will have undertaken with a regional association. Plans were initially discussed at the MALAS meeting in October, and Max Manwaring (Memphis State University) is the MALAS representative on the Program Committee.

1979 NOMINATING COMMITTEE includes G. Micheal Riley, chairperson (U. of Wisconsin-Milwaukee), Antonio Ugalde (Texas at Austin), Dolores Martin (Library of Congress), Carl Salberg (U. of Washington), Roger Stone (Center for Inter-American Relations) and Susan Eckstein (Boston U.).

FUTURE LASA MEETING SITES. At its November meeting in Urbana LASA's Executive Council proposed the following sites for national meetings following the 1980 meeting in Bloomington: Tenth Meeting in Washington, D.C. (spring of 1982), Eleventh in Mexico City or Havana (autumn of 1983), the Twelfth in Boston or Toronto (spring of 1985), and the Thirteenth in Los Angeles or San Diego (autumn of 1986). All of these cities are in states which have supported the ERA.

WINGSPREAD UPDATE. The conference on "New Directions in Language and Area Studies Priorities for the 1980's" announced in the December Newsletter took place on February 18-20 at the Wingspread Conference facilities of The Johnson Foundation in Racine, Wisconsin. Funded by The Rockefeller Foundation and The Johnson Foundation the meetings brought together more than twenty-five directors of Latin American Studies Programs and representatives of five other area studies associations to discuss future priorities with representatives of foundations and various agencies of the federal government.

Participants from the foundations and government agencies included The Honorable Dante B. Fascell, Representative, United States Congress, State of Florida; Barbara B. Burn, Consuelo Nieto, and Carol E. Baumann of the President's Commission on Foreign Language and International Studies; Peter Bell, Deputy Under Secretary for International Affairs, Department of Health, Education and Welfare; James R. Hines, Ford Foundation; Michael Finley, Staff Director, and Virginia Schlundt, Counsel, House Subcommittee on International Operations; Richard Thompson, International Studies Branch, U.S. Office of Education; Luigi Einaudi, Department of State; Abraham F. Lowenthal, Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars; Robert H. Atwell, Vice-President American Council on Education and Becky Owens, American Council on Education; Jerry Inman and Carl D. Schultz, International Communications Agency; Edwin Young, President University of Wisconsin System; Werner A. Baum, Chancellor University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee; Leslie Paffrath, President of The Johnson Foundation; Reid Andrews, Social Science Research Council; Richard H. Leonard, Vice President and Editor of The Milwaukee Journal; Ramón Eduardo Ruiz, National Endowment for the Humanities; and William M. Dyal, Jr., President of the Inter-American Foundation.

The deliberations of the conference centered around position papers presented by John M. Hunter of Michigan State University, Richard E. Greenleaf of Tulane University, William Glade of the University of Texas and Riordan Roett of Johns Hopkins University. Congressman Fascell presented remarks on "A Congressional Perspective" and Viron P. Vaky, Assistant Secretary for Inter-American Affairs, U.S. Department of State, prepared written remarks which were distributed in his absence. In the final session representatives of the other area associations presented their comments on the proceedings of the conference.

It is anticipated that the resolutions and recommendations will serve as a solid representation of needs in Latin American Studies for consideration by the Presidents Commission on Foreign Language and International Studies. Plans are underway at The Johnson Foundation to make available a publication of the proceedings to those who attended and to all LASA and CLASP members. A report of the conference will be presented to CLASP members at the Pittsburgh National Meeting.

Members of LASA and CLASP are indebted to G. Micheal Riley, Donald R. Shea and the staff at the Center for Latin America, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee for shouldering the burdens of planning and administering this very important meeting. Moreover, the association is very thankful to The Rockefeller Foundation and The Johnson Foundation for the financial support and facilities that made this conference possible. (Carl Deal)

In several copies of the December Newsletter, pages 3-4 and 41-42 did not appear because of a bad collating job. We are reproducing the bid specifications for the Latin American Research Review below for those who missed this information.

BID SPECIFICATIONS FOR THE LATIN AMERICAN RESEARCH REVIEW

The Latin American Research Review is scheduled to leave the University of North Carolina in 1982. The specifications which follow have been approved by the Executive Council. The present editor, John Martz, and Carl Deal at the LASA Secretariat will be pleased to respond to any questions.

- I. Responsibilities. The responsibilities of the host institution will include:
1. Assuming the editorial direction of the LARR for the period 1 July 1982 to 1 July 1987.
  2. Assuming the following associated functions: bookkeeping and accounting, subscription list maintenance, printing and reprints, mailing, advertising, etc.
  3. Preparing a comprehensive statement on the editorial policy to be followed by the editorial staff.
  4. Organizing, if judged appropriate, a consortium of institutions to carry out the responsibilities stated above.

II. Staffing. The editorial staffing arrangements will necessarily vary according to circumstances. On the basis of past experience, a desirable staff structure would appear to be as follows:

1. One-quarter to one-half time editor
2. One-quarter to one-half time associate editor
3. Full-time managing editor (funding supplied from LARR receipts as described below)
4. Full-time secretary
5. Two graduate assistants and/or work-study students.

The Editor and Associate Editor should be scholars of recognized distinction. The Association requests that all bidding institutions indicate by name, academic rank, and discipline the persons who will occupy the editorship and associate editorship. If possible, the institution should identify the managing editor and provide appropriate biographical and professional background material.

III. Funding. Current income from LARR generates funds for the salary of the managing editor, printing and production costs, mailing, telephone, office supplies and travel for editors, as needed. Bidding institutions should specify the amount of release time to be given the editor and associate editor. The host institution should provide funds for secretarial and student assistance, as well as adequate office space, associated essential services, and a favorable rate for computer time.

IV. Documentation. Institutions bidding for LARR are requested to submit a document signed by university officials empowered to make the commitments involved, which document should contain or be accompanied by the following items of information:

1. Curriculum Vitae of the proposed editor and associate editor and, if available, appropriate biographical and professional materials about the managing editor.
2. A letter from each of the candidates for editor and associate editor indicating their willingness to assume the responsibilities involved.
3. A list of Latin Americanists on the faculty of the host institution and other specialists with whom the editors might consult locally.
4. A statement indicating the financial commitment the institution is willing to make towards the publication of LARR (e.g., secretarial and student assistance, overhead, etc.).
5. A statement indicating how the actual printing and distribution of LARR will be handled (this need not be done through a university press).
6. A brief description of the physical facilities which will house the LARR operation.
7. Any other statements concerning policy or management of LARR which would be helpful to the Council in making its decision.

V. Editorial Advisory Board. The Executive Council of LASA appoints, in consultation with the editors of LARR, an Editorial Advisory Board, with due regard for sex, disciplinary diversity, geographical spread and other considerations. The size of the Board is determined by the Executive Council. The term of office of the members of the Board is three years, once renewable. The Past President shall have an ex-officio seat on the Board. As appropriate, the Editorial Advisory Board will advise the editors on matters of editorial policy and will act, on request, as a review body for articles considered for publication in LARR. The Editorial Advisory Board may assist the editors of the Review in seeking out materials such as research reports, bibliographical contributions, and other items of scholarly interest.

VI. Additional Information. Persons wishing information concerning the present operation of the editorial offices, including budgetary data, may contact the present editor, Professor John D. Martz, Department of Political Science, Pennsylvania State University, University Park, PA 16802, (telephone 814-865-7515) or the Executive Director of LASA, Professor Carl W. Deal, LASA Secretariat, 911 West High Street, Room 100, Urbana, Illinois 61801 (telephone 217-333-7726). The deadline to submit information is February 1, 1980.

INSTITUTIONAL

THE CENTER FOR LATIN AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN STUDIES (CLACS) at New York University has received a two-year NYU Curricular Development Challenge Grant to redevelop and re-invigorate its programs. The Center's focus will be on the many-faceted inter-American relationship, including hemispheric economic links, international migration and diplomacy, and mutual North-South cultural influences. As part of an urban university in the 1980's, the Center will be in an excellent position to observe and participate in these important trends. CLACS will continue and improve its eight-course M.A. program in Latin American and Caribbean Studies (begun by Kalman Silvert). Three new integrating seminars will be introduced: "Contemporary Inter-American Relations," "Contemporary Latin America: Economic and Social Change," and "Contemporary Latin America: The Arts and Civilization." The Center also plans to expand its publication series, to sponsor lectures and research conferences, beginning with a seminar in 1979-80 on "Caribbean Migration and Urban Politics." For additional information on the Center's programs and new direction, one may write to Professor Christopher Mitchell, Director, Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies, New York University, New York, New York, 10003. The telephone is (212) 598-3395.

THE SOCIAL SCIENCE RESEARCH COUNCIL has announced the appointment of Kenneth Prewitt, professor of political science at the University of Chicago, as president. Mr. Prewitt, who assumed office on March 19, 1979, succeeds Eleanor Bernert Sheldon.

Mr. Prewitt earned a B.A. from Southern Methodist University in 1958 and a Ph.D. in political science from Stanford University in 1963. For the past three years, in addition to his teaching responsibilities, he has been director of the National Opinion Research Center, a national survey research organization located at the University of Chicago.

THE COUNCIL ON HEMISPHERIC AFFAIRS (COHA), a Washington, D.C. and New York-based organization, is a tax-exempt, non-partisan, research and educational group concerned with U.S.-Latin American relations. COHA now announces the creation of a national speakers' bureau on inter-American relations. The purpose of this new facility is to make available distinguished personalities who are knowledgeable on regional affairs to on- and off-campus institutions and other groups throughout the nation. The list of available speakers will represent a diversity of viewpoints and will come from academic, professional and governmental backgrounds. Under the auspices of COHA's speakers' bureau, U.S., Latin American and hemispheric specialists from other countries will be available to address forums, seminars, world affairs and foreign policy associations, conferences, and organizational gatherings on topics relating to current inter-American political, economic and social realities. The goal of this new service is to increase and update public awareness of key issues affecting U.S.-Latin American relations and inter-American affairs as well as to bring to university and general audiences a comprehensive and contemporary analysis of this vast and vital region which previously has often been denied the recognition it deserves. The speakers' bureau will be run on a non-profit basis and its clients will be asked to pay expenses and a modest honorarium to the selected speaker. For more information contact: The National Speakers' Bureau of the Council on Hemispheric Affairs (COHA), 1735 New Hampshire Ave., N.W. Washington, D.C. 20009. (202) 332-8860 or 30 Fifth Ave., New York, New York 10011 (212) 673-5470.

THE DEPARTMENT OF SPANISH AND PORTUGUESE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT AUSTIN is pleased to announce that Dr. Merlin H. Forster is the new chairman of that department. He comes from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, where he was director of the Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies. He is a noted scholar in 20th Century Latin American literature, and his books include "Tradition and Renewal: Essays on Twentieth Century Latin American Literature and Culture" and "Fire and Ice: the Poetry of Xavier Villaurrutia."

THE LATIN AMERICAN MICROFORMS PROJECT. The Latin American Microform Project (LAMP) is a cooperative program that was organized in the Fall of 1975 by a committee of the Seminar on the Acquisition of Latin American Library Materials (SALALM) and the Center for Research Libraries in Chicago. LAMP's primary purpose is to microfilm or acquire microfilms of unique, scarce, rare and/or bulky and voluminous research materials pertaining to Latin America and to make them available to the institutions subscribing to the project.

During its first three years the project has focused on materials from Brazil and Mexico. From Mexico it has filmed the magazine Siempre!, 1953-1977, and the newspaper La Opinión from Vera Cruz for the period of November 11, 1911 - January 9, 1915. It has also acquired microfilm for the joint use of its members of Siglo XIX from Mexico City for the period 1841 - June 30, 1896 and Contemporaneos, Revista Mexicana de Cultura, 1928-1931. LAMP's major undertaking to date has been a joint project with the Biblioteca Nacional and the Arquivo Nacional Rio de Janeiro to microfilm the reports of the presidents of the twenty Brazilian provinces published between 1830 and 1889. Only scattered issues of these reports exist in North American libraries and even in Brazil it has been necessary to bring holdings together from a number of locations in order to have a complete set for filming. Ann Graham's recent book, Subject Guide to Statistics on the Brazilian Provinces, 1830-1890, is a guide researchers can consult on a large number of these documents. It is hoped that this project will be completed within the next few months.

During the next six months LAMP will attempt to have filmed the Buckley Collection of Mexican press clippings at the University of Texas; the Mexican newspapers Semana Mercantíl, 1886-1913, and El Díctamen, 1914-1940; the Chilean magazine Ercilla, 1937-1970; and the Peruvian newspaper the West Coast Leader, 1913-1939.

LAMP will be making an effort to locate files of scarce opposition publications from Brazil and Chile. Since many libraries have had difficulty in obtaining such publications, it is hoped that some files might be located which belong to individual scholars. If such files can be located, LAMP plans to film them in the second half of 1979.

LAMP is supported by the annual dues of $500 paid by twenty universities with Latin American programs. At the January meeting the LAMP Executive Committee expressed the hope that other universities with Latin American programs would join the project in order to make more funds available for future filming. Since the project is able to make available research materials to LAMP members on interlibrary loan which would otherwise be unavailable to North American researchers without extensive travel funds, it is believed that benefits of the cooperative venture will prove increasingly attractive. Peter Johnson of Princeton University is the Chairperson of the Executive Committee for the coming year. Information on LAMP may be obtained by writing to Ray Boylan, Assistant Director, The Center for Research Libraries, 5721 South Cottage Grove Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60637.

JOURNALS AND NEWSLETTERS

"The University of Texas Press announces the publication of a new journal to be called LATIN AMERICAN MUSIC REVIEW - REVISTA DE MÚSICA LATINO-AMERICANA. The review, under the editorship of Gerard Béhague, a professor of musicology specializing in Latin American music and acting director of the University of Texas' Center for Inter-Cultural Studies in Folklore and Ethnomusicology, will begin as a biannual publication with the first issue appearing in early 1980. #### NATIONAL MEETING NOTES

ABSTRACT ERRATA. In panel S4 "Migration From the Caribbean to the United States: Implications for the Sending Countries" we erred in listing the authors of one paper. "Five Generations of Garifuna Migration: The Final Chapter?" will be presented by Nancie L. Gonzalez and Ian Ganzalez (University of Maryland).

In Panel S16h "Human Rights: General Considerations and Case Studies", the abstract of Thomas P. Anderson's paper entitled "Human Rights and Social Change in El Salvador" should read as follows:

This paper deals with political repression and conflict in El Salvador. The thesis of the paper is that human rights has become an ambiguous code word which signifies several conflicting aspirations. The government claims violations of "human rights" every time members of the security forces are killed fighting urban guerrillas or peasant activists. The peasant organizations and the Church see human rights as an issue for mobilizing international opinion behind the struggle for land reform. The press and the government further see the struggle with Honduras in terms of human rights. Thus it has come to mean many things.

The LASA Constitution currently in effect will be available at the National Meeting. The changes recommended by the Task Force of the Executive Council will be distributed to the membership at a later date.

THE ASSOCIATION FOR LATIN AMERICAN ART (ALLA) has now been formally organized to provide a much needed focus and organizational support for the study of the visual arts of Latin America. LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES ASSOCIATION
Founded and Incorporated May, 1966

The Latin American Studies Association is a charitable and educational body. It is a national non-profit learned society of scholars and specialists that fosters the interests, both educational and professional, of persons concerned with the study of Latin America and that promotes education through more effective teaching, training, and research. The Association provides both a forum and an instrumentality for treating matters of common interest to the scholarly disciplines and to individuals concerned with Latin American studies.

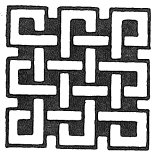

Persons and institutions having these educational and scholarly concerns in matters related to Latin America are welcome. Membership is not restricted to United States citizens. Persons and institutions seeking membership should apply to: LASA, 911 West High, Room 100, Urbana, Illinois 61801. Dues include receipt of the Association's publications for one calendar year.

The Consortium of Latin American Studies Associations (CLASP) is the national organization of institutions of higher education offering study related to Latin America and is in effect the institutional arm of LASA. Formed in the fall of 1968, the Consortium provides the institutional dimension for the realization of the educational purposes of the Association. Cooperative activities are arranged through the Steering Committee of the Consortium, while liaison is maintained through the Executive Secretariat which serves both organizations. Annual dues are $50. Current Chairperson of the Steering Committee is G. Micheal Riley (U. of Wisconsin/Milwaukee).

The Latin American Research Review is the official publication of the Association. The Review is published in three issues annually. The LASA Newsletter, a quarterly release of the Secretariat, is the basic news organ of the Association. Announcements and news items for the Newsletter should be sent to the Secretariat. It is available to the membership of the Association and by separate subscription at $10 per calendar year.
