PROGRAM COMMITTEE REPORT AND CALL FOR PARTICIPANTS
March 25-28, 1976

The Program Committee met May 16-17, 1975, in Washington, D.C. On May 16 we judged the first round of requests for sessions to be held at the 1976 Meeting, and on May 17 we discussed our timing with the Executive Committee.

Of the more than 50 proposals submitted since the Committee's appointment in January, 17 panels were approved. The program remains open, and we welcome additional suggestions for panels until September 15, 1975.

Panel topics and their respective chairpersons accepted through May 16 include:

- Panel 1 Popular Literature and Popular Culture--Jean Franco (Stanford)
- Panel 2 Lore in Latin America--Johannes Wilbert (UCLA)
- Panel 3 Cuba by 1976--Jorge Domínguez (Yale)
- Panel 4 Public Policy in National Development--David Collier (Princeton)
- Panel 5 Quantitative Studies--Peter H. Smith (Wisconsin)
- Panel 6 New Latin American Cinema: Evolution and Future Directions--Julianne Burton (Santa Cruz) and Anna Marie Taylor (Chicago)
- Panel 7 Human Rights in Latin American Countries--Patricia Fagen (San Jose State)
- Panel 8 Internationalization of Research in Latin American Sociology--Alejandro Portes (Duke) and Louis Wolf Goodman (SSRC)
- Panel 9 Science and Technology in Latin America--Rosario Morales (Harvard)
- Panel 10 Dependency Theory Reassessed--(to be announced)
- Panel 11 Short-Run Economic Policy in Latin America--Shane J. Hunt (Boston U.)
- Panel 12 Corporatism--Evelyn Stevens (Loyola U. of Chicago)
- Panel 13 Alternatives to Formal Education--Thomas J. LaBelle (UCLA)
- Panel 14 The Effects and Affects of Drugs and Hallucigens in Latin America--Paul Doughty (Florida)
- Panel 15 Volunteer Paper Panel--Howard Wiarda and Ieda Siqueira Wiarda (U. of Massachusetts, Amherst)
- Panel 16 URLA: Colonialism, Class Formation, and Class Consciousness in Puerto Rico--Mary Kay Vaughn (Chicago Circle)

Panel 17 URLA: Feminism and the Class Struggle--Terry
Dietz-Fee (UC-Riverside)

We believe this gives balance by regional base in the United States, region of study in Latin America; and it includes representatives of the different LASA constituencies (by age, sex, ethnicity, politics, disciplines, etc.) as LASA by-laws require. In order to make sound choices in the next round of evaluating proposals, however, we welcome your comments.

With regard to comments solicited from the membership, please note the following:

1. If you see the need for a panel not included, please write to us, giving a specific proposal and names of participants;
2. If you would like to participate on a panel topic already selected, please write to the respective chairperson outlining your ideas and availability;
3. If your idea is unique in that you do not fit into either of the above categories, please write to the chairperson of the Volunteer Paper Panel for consideration of your proposal through September 15, 1975.
4. If you would rather arrange discussion of an issue, please contact a member of the Program Committee about the possibility of chairing a luncheon roundtable, giving specific information about the topic to be discussed.

EMERGENCY COMMITTEE TO AID
LATIN AMERICAN SCHOLARS
(ECALAS)

Report

September 30, 1974

Alison McClure, Executive Secretary

This report will supplement Bryce Wood's May, 1974, Interim Report (see LASA Newsletter, June, 1974) for the period from late May until the end of September, 1974. Upon his retirement in May, 1974, Bryce Wood was succeeded as ECALAS Executive Secretary by Alison McClure. The summer months were used to pursue further information on specific cases and to extend contacts with other organizations undertaking similar work, while Riordan Roett, the ECALAS Steering Committee Chairman, sought further funding.

The staff worked to update our files with new information on individual cases and compiled an alphabetical list of the 575 persons registered with ECALAS, giving age and professional area. This list was sent to the European offices of Amnesty International, the World University Services (WUS) and the Canada and World Councils of Churches as well as Dr. Nita Manitzas of the Lima Ford Foundation office and Dr. William D. Carmichael, Head of Ford's Latin American Division. A request was made to these groups for assistance through a regular exchange of data on refugees newly arrived in their respective countries who also appeared on our lists and for verification of any appointments made for them. In return ECALAS received confirmation of information indicated on our list, which enabled us to 'close' many cases. A second list with more current information would be sent out late in the Fall.

Talks were held in New York with Eduardo Santos, head of the CLACSO Bolsa Especial de Trabajo in Buenos Aires; Arthur Conning, representing his wife Barbara of the Comité Nacional de Ayuda a los Refugiados; and Roger Plant of the British office of Amnesty International. Father Fernando Salas of the Comité de Cooperación para la Paz en Chile was able to join the ECALAS Steering Committee for lunch at its first meeting in October.

During June and July staff pursued confirmation from various schools which had made job offers, to obtain a firm indication of the amount of support granted with each position. Some offers were only for admission to the graduate school without financial support but the total for university commitments, not repeating those offers extended to a second or third candidate nor the positions at Cornell University which were supported by Ford Foundation fellowships, comes to $364,595 or more, for 58 placements. Where an individual in Latin America had not responded to an offer, the staff helped trace him, or if he had been placed elsewhere, encouraged the school to consider an alternate candidate for the same opening (Claremont College, the University of Florida at Gainesville, Boston University). Several openings occurred over the summer for fall positions which prompted new inquiries for Latin American Scholars.

It became apparent that closer coordination with committees located in Chile was necessary to guarantee that word of a position reached a candidate quickly and a response returned to us. Also, staff now recommends that each school select an alternate candidate so that, if the first choice individual does not respond within a month's time, arrangements may be initiated with the alternate. Thus we anticipate arrangements will be expedited.

ECALAS realized that it would be helpful to graduate admissions officers to have credentials for our applicants presented on a form similar to that used by U.S. universities. Staff reviewed admissions forms from several schools and devised a new Curriculum Vitae form, incorporating the most common and essential questions. The new curriculum form has been sent to the committees in Chile and CLACSO in Buenos Aires for use in each new case and the ECALAS staff has transferred information onto these forms for more urgent cases which have reached us.

We have found it necessary to advise our contacts in Chile that it is impossible to place students still in their undergraduate years or to locate in U.S. schools anyone outside the field of language and literature who does not have some command of English. It was our hope that some assistance for these students might be gained through the office of the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees in Argentina which has limited funding for scholarships. The status of such undergraduate students was discussed with Enrique Oteiza of CLACSO during his visit in May and he advised us that there was no hope for them in Argentina then; they would no doubt have to turn to menial jobs to support themselves and generally would not find opportunities for further study in Latin America.

Despite the Chairman's contacts with eight other Foundations and changing public opinion regarding Chile, additional funding came only from the Ford Foundation at the end of September. Upon receipt of another Ford Foundation grant, ECALAS renewed its broader activities within the U.S. aca-demographic community. At the Steering Committee's first meeting in October, a new network of Regional Coordinators was established, hiring of additional staff was approved, and plans made for presentations at the Latin American Studies Association Conference in San Francisco in November. In further discussions it was agreed that a focal group of 50 priority cases would be formed and periodically updated for the field representative who would present the cases whenever appropriate in her campus visits. As of November, the complete list of 575 cases included 112 persons who had been placed either with jobs inside Chile or in other countries, 70 who were known to be out of Chile, 7 who were held but had offers elsewhere, 2 deceased, 3 who wished to remain in Chile, and 377 still without placement. Of these 377, 100 gave no explanation of language ability, 70 were undergraduate students and the remaining 200 were still eligible for consideration.

ECALAS now sees as its objective a concentrated effort for those individuals indicated as most in need by recommendation of other committees in Latin America or local referral through others here. As a secondary category, ECALAS has indicated those individuals most likely to be placed on the basis of their training and experience and is requesting further information on their immediate situations. Thus it is hoped that more placements will be realized by June of 1975 for those who are in greatest need with qualifications. Applicants are now encouraged to send letters of recommendation and if no official transcript is available, to reconstruct a list of courses and grades for consideration by admissions personnel.

ECALAS has participated in arranging offers and placements for 68 individuals since January, 1974. Not all of these proved viable at the last minute due to changes in course enrollment and curriculum revisions or budgetary problems. Some individuals had found alternate offers more beneficial due to family responsibilities and some others continued in detention; appeals came to the staff for some of the latter in the hope that an offer outside of Chile would alleviate their situation. This was feasible only where the school did not require placement completed by a given date and few departments can be so lenient unless there is sufficient support among the students and faculty.

The Emergency Committee to Aid Latin American Scholars wishes to express its appreciation of the Ford Foundation's financial support in this venture and the additional help of the Foundation staff both here in New York and in Latin America.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

June 3, 1975

Editor, Newsletter:

I would like to exercise my right of reply to the letter critical of the Caribbean Studies Association appearing in the March, 1975, issue of the Latin American Studies Association Newsletter. I regret that a copy of this letter was not made available to me for comment at the time that it was submitted so that the criticism and my reply could have appeared together in the same issue. Nevertheless, I will seek to reply to the six points made in the basic letter:

1. The Criticism: Caribbean studies can not be served by large conferences. My reply: If Latin American, Asian, African and other area studies can be successfully served by large conferences, so can Caribbean studies.

2. The Criticism: North Americans predominate in the C.S.A. My reply: True, and perhaps inevitable, from a numerical point of view, given the preponderance of scholars working on the Caribbean residing in the United States and Canada. However, persons living in the Caribbean predominate on the C.S.A.'s governing body, the Council.

3. The Criticism: There was a "not very hidden ideological bias" to the C.S.A. January, 1975, conference. The letter deplores lack of representation from Cuba and the Dominican Republic and from among Haitian exiles. My reply: The writer is naive to assume that scholars from Cuba would be permitted to enter the United States to attend this conference. Academic representatives from the Dominican Republic and from among Haitian exiles were present.

4. The Criticism: "The elected President of the Association is a North American citizen with a background of service in the Intelligence Services of the United States Military forces." My reply: True. I make no apology for having served honorably in the United States Military Intelligence Service in the European Theatre of Operations during World War II (30 years ago) in the struggle against German fascism. I do not believe this fact disqualifies me from a position of leadership in the Caribbean Studies Association.

5. The Criticism: "We see no compelling reason why an academic conference would invite practicing politicians to address their deliberations." My reply: Agreed. In retrospect, it was probably an error to schedule talks by the proponents of the three status alternatives for Puerto Rico: statehood, independence, and Commonwealth. The organizers thought that the conference participants might like to hear the three status alternatives defended, and indeed attendance was high at these sessions, but the presentations did add a political dimension to the proceedings which we want to avoid in the future.

6. The Criticism: "We must deploy our academic wisdom in the service of the Caribbean people." My reply: Agreed. Indeed, the theme of the Third Annual Conference of the Caribbean Studies Association is tentatively titled: "Toward the Solution of Caribbean Problems: Some Suggestions from the Academic Community." Also, the C.S.A. is planning a series of smaller, problem-oriented, action-oriented meetings in the future in addition to the annual general conference.

Therefore, in conclusion, it can be said that some of the criticism expressed in the letter is valid, and corrective and remedial action has already been taken by the Association. Other criticism is false, distorted, or irrelevant. The files of the C.S.A. are replete with letters commending the First Annual Conference. More than 150 new members have joined in the five months since the conference, bringing the total of C.S.A. membership to well over 700 at the present time. Indeed, one of the two signers of the letter of criticism is himself a member.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ Roland I. Perusse

PEDAGOGY

BOSTON COLLEGE

Boston College offers the following courses: (1) Latin American Politics. In this course it is suggested that countries of Latin America must be studied as distinct political systems as different from one another as the Soviet Union and Liberia in some respects. However, as a region with a common history and for many purposes a common culture, Latin America can be studied in the general sense of national variations on common themes. The first section considers general social, economic, cultural and political patterns. The second section concentrates on Colombia, Cuba, Mexico and Brazil as elements in a typology of solutions to problems of political and social change. Further reference is made to other countries, particularly Argentina, Chile and Peru.

(2) Problems of Political Development: Latin America. In this seminar, the impact of industrial and technetronic civilization on the traditional societies of Asia, Africa and Latin America is discussed as one of the fundamental crises of our times. The seminar analyzes this crisis using selected case studies and theoretical approaches, with the bulk of the material relating to Latin America.

For further information on these courses, contact: Professor Edward S. Milenky, Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science, Boston College, Chestnut Hill, Massachusetts 02167.

PROGRAMA DE ALTOS ESTUDIOS EN ADMINISTRACION DE LA INTEGRACION Caracas, Venezuela

In October, the second class will be admitted for the Masters' program in Economic Integration Administration. This program of graduate studies is jointly sponsored by the government of Venezuela, the Inter-American Development Bank, through its Latin American Integration Institute-INTAL, and the Institute of Advanced Studies in Administration-IESA, in Caracas.

The program is designed for university graduates of any discipline and is intended to educate a new generation of specialists and future leaders in the public and private sectors of Latin America and the Caribbean. The combination of studies in administration and economic integration is intended to provide these students with the knowledge to identify and examine the problems of integration and development and endow them with the technical ability to take the decisions necessary to overcome them.

The program, beginning in October will extend through six continuous academic quarters, ending in March 1977. A special preliminary course in mathematics, beginning the 15th of August, is offered for those students who do not already possess the strong preparation in this area which is required for the program, or who wish to further improve their skills.

Antonio Casas González, Director of the Program, writes: "Due to our desire to inform a broad range of highly qualified potential candidates of this important program of studies, we wish to request your collaboration in helping us identify and communicate with those persons who may be interested." Write Dr. Casas at Programa de Altos Estudios en Administración de la Integración, Apartado Postal 13455, Caracas 101, Venezuela.

LATIN AMERICAN NEWSLETTERS LTD.
London, England

Two reports, published weekly, are offered as teaching aids. One, a bulletin entitled Latin America, includes political and economic news articles on Latin America. The other bulletin, Latin American Economic Report, contains feature articles in detail on such subjects as new oil discoveries in Mexico, the debate concerning the treatment of foreign investments in Argentina, the acquisition of two Brazilian mining companies by foreign interests and the future of the Venezuelan state oil company. The cost of either newsletter is $0.40 per copy--i.e., US$40.00 for 10 students for 10 weeks, or US$62.40 for 12 students for 13 weeks. Desk copies for the teacher are free. For an order form in the U.S., write William Holub, Holub & Associates, 432 Park Avenue South, New York, New York 10015. Tel.: (212) 889-6626.

The Association will announce recipients of prizes and awards at its annual meeting, December 28-30, 1976, in Washington, D.C.

Ford Foundation Grants

The Foundation has announced the following grants and projects of interest to Latin Americanists which have been funded since April 1, 1975:

Association of Brazilian Centers for Teaching and Research in Economics. $130,000 over two years, for meetings, seminars, and awards to help improve graduate training and research in economics in Brazil.

Bolivian Association of Professions in the Social Sciences. $5,000, for translation into Spanish and publication of foreign-language books and articles dealing with Bolivian development problems.

Federal University of Ceará (Brazil). $200,000 three-year supplement to strengthen graduate economics teaching and research.

Institute of Peruvian Studies. $3,999, for archival collection and cataloguing at the Agrarian Documentation Center, including records of haciendas involved in Peru's land-reform program. Also, $2,870 to enable Bolivian specialists to attend a symposium in Peru on social, economic and political change in Bolivia since the 1952 revolution.

Latin American Graduate Fellowships. $1,090,000 three-year supplement, for awards to graduate students from Latin America and the Caribbean.

Pan American Health Organization. $5,000 for development of a research methodology to evaluate social and economic programs underway in Central America.

Pontifical Catholic University of Peru. $200,000 two-year supplement, to continue graduate-level training in sociology, anthropology, and demography. Funds will support staff salaries, student fellowships, library development, research, and textbook preparation.

Social Science Research Council. $756,500 three-year supplement, for scholarly research and seminars on Latin America and the Caribbean.

State University of Campinas (Brazil). $5,000, for an international seminar on history and the social sciences.

Torcuato Di Tella Institute (Argentina). $10,000 over six months, for preparation of a guide for historical research in Argentina.

Inter-American Bank

The Inter-American Development Bank announced that it has borrowed $12 million in Italy to channel to the development of its member countries in Latin America. The borrowing dated April 1, 1975, was effected in the form of a single note sold by the Bank to the Ufficio Italiano Dei Cambi, the official Italian foreign exchange office.

It is also announced that the Venezuelan Investment Fund and the Inter-American Development Bank entered into an agreement under which the Bank will administer a $500 million Venezuelan Trust Fund. The $500 million ($400 million and 430 million bolivars) will be turned over to the Bank by the Venezuelan Investment Fund in 10 equal and consecutive installments over a five-year period.

The purpose of the Fund is to contribute to the financing of projects and programs having a significant effect on the development of those member countries of the Bank which are relatively less developed or of intermediate size, through better use of their natural resources and the promotion of their industry and agroindustry. In fulfilling these goals, the Bank will place emphasis on projects and programs which promote the economic integration of Latin America.

International Congress of Americanists

In order to commemorate the centenary of the First International Congress, which was held in Nancy, France in 1875, and complying with the resolution adopted in this respect by the XL Congress held in Rome (1972), the Permanent Council of International Congresses of Americanists opens a contest for the granting of five awards under the following basis:

- (1) The participants must present a paper resulting from the research of an americanists theme in one of the following five areas: Physical Anthropology, Prehistory and Archaeology, Linguistics, History and Ethnohistory, Ethnology and Social Anthropology (included under the last theme are the studies in folklore).

(2) The candidates for these awards can be of any nationality and may not exceed 35 years of age on December 31, 1975.

(3) Papers presented have no limit in number of pages, but must be unpublished works, and written in any of the official languages of the Congresses.

The deadline for the presentation of the papers is December 31, 1975. Five committees have been formed to determine the granting of the awards which will consist of a diploma, granted by the Permanent Council, and $1,000 for every author whose paper is selected. The various committees will communicate their decisions to the winners three months before the XLII International Congress of Americanists at which the awards will be handed over. Papers should be sent in triplicate (an original and two copies) to Dr. Guillermo Bonfil Batalla, President of the XLI International Congress of Americanists, Instituto Nacional de Antropología e Historia, Córdoba 45, México 7, D.F., México. Dr. Bonfil will distribute the papers to the appropriate committees.

FORTHCOMING CONFERENCES

Historic Pensacola Preservation Board

The Board announces that the sixth Gulf Coast History and Humanities Conference will be held in Pensacola, Florida, on October 2 and 3, 1975. The topic is "The Cultural Legacy of the Gulf Coast, 1870-1940." The Conference is co-sponsored by the Historic Pensacola Preservation Board, the Escambia County School Board, Pensacola Junior College, the University of West Florida, and the National Trust for Historic Preservation. Major topics of discussion will be "Uses of Our Physical Legacy," "The Cultural Legacy of the Gulf Coast," "The Material Culture of the Lower South," and "Making Effective Use of Our Physical Past." Charles Hosmer, Ellen Beasley, Walter Beinecke, James R. McGovern, and George Demmy are among the scheduled speakers.

Further information and copies of the proceedings of the five previous conferences are available by writing to Dr. Lucius F. Ellsworth, General Chairman, Gulf Coast History and Humanities Conference, c/o John C. Pace Library, University of West Florida, Pensacola, Florida 32504.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln

On September 29-30, the Directors of Latin American Centers in the Midwest will meet at the University of Nebraska-

Lincoln to discuss ways of expanding cooperation among the various institutions in the area and to hear from various State and Federal officials about the future of funding of international programs. It is cosponsored by the University of Kansas, Indiana University, the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

For course requirements and other information, write to Director of Bilingual Education, Box 667, Hardin-Timmons University, Abilene, Texas 79601.

University of Pittsburgh-Universidad del Pacífico, Lima

In January, 1975, the University of Pittsburgh and Universidad del Pacífico in Lima, Peru, signed an agreement calling for the exchange of students and faculty members, publications, and research services. Beginning with the 1975-76 academic year, the University of Pittsburgh will offer three fellowships for Master's or Ph.D. candidates in business administration, public administration, economics, political science, and other social science fields. In return, Universidad del Pacífico will provide research facilities for post-graduate students and faculty from the University of Pittsburgh who want to do field work in Peru in these areas of study.

Other provisions of the agreement provide for collaborative projects utilizing the resources of both institutions and permitting faculty members from one institution to spend time at the other.

Syracuse University

The Syracuse University Libraries' Seminar on the Acquisition of Latin American Library Materials (SALALM) is in the final stages of preparing a Bibliography of Latin American Bibliographies on the humanities and social sciences, to be published by Scarecrow Press. Daniel Raposo Cordeiro (Syracuse University) is general editor, and the associate editors include Barbara Hadley Stein (Princeton University) Haydee N. Piedracueva (Columbia University) and Solena V. Bryant (Queens College). Coverage of bibliographical articles will be from 1966 to 1974, and 1969 to 1974 for monographs. Since the bibliography is to be supplemented every five years, it is requested that all bibliographies being prepared or published in the future be reported to:

University of Texas-Austin

The Institute of Latin American Studies announces that the National Endowment for the Humanities has offered support of up to $68,449 to the Institute for conducting a program designed to expand instruction in Latin American studies in schools, libraries, and communities throughout Texas. Beginning in September, 1975, and extending through August, 1976, the Institute will conduct two conferences and a summer school designed primarily for educators interested in implementing or improving the teaching of Latin American Studies. This effort will be coordinated with the statewide program of bilingual-bicultural education. The first conference will be aimed at educators at the supervisory and administrative level, the second conference for librarians, community leaders and junior colleges; and the summer school will be organized for teachers involved in Texas' bilingual-bicultural effort.

There will be financial aids in the form of travel and per diem expenses available to program participants. All teachers, librarians, and community leaders interested in knowing more about the program are encouraged to write the project director: Dr. Edward Glab, Jr., Institute of Latin American Studies, Sid Richardson Hall, Unit I, University of Texas--Austin, Austin, Texas 78712. Tel: (512) 471-5551.

PERSONAL

PETER BOYD-BOWMAN (SUNY at Buffalo) has been awarded a Capitán Alonso de León Medal of Merit by the Sociedad Nuevo-leonesa de Historia, Geografía y Estadística for his long-range research on 16th century patterns of emigration to the New World. The medal was presented at a special ceremony held in Monterrey, Mexico, on May 17.

LEON CAMPBELL and CARLOS CORTÉS (University of California-Riverside) presented an experimental course titled "The Latin American Experience in Film," during the spring quarter. In the spring of 1976 they will present another titled "The Feature Film as Historical Source: A Study of Human Dilemmas." Both courses were supported by University of California Innovative Teaching Grants.

ROBERT H. CLAXTON (West Georgia College), who has been promoted to Associate Professor effective this September, has completed a manuscript for a book titled Nineteenth Century Liberalism: Lorenzo Montúfar of Central America. He has also published two papers: "Protests and the Press: the 1888-1889 Santiago Strikes," in MALAS, October, 1974; and "Environmental Concern in Latin America," published by the Georgia Academy of Science in April, 1975.

JAMES S. CUNNINGHAM (Ohio University) has resigned the Directorship of the Latin American Studies Program. He was instrumental in founding the Program, which formally began in 1971-72, and has guided the development and progress of the Program since its inception.

FREDERICK J. DOCKSTADER (Museum of the American Indian-Heye Foundation) announces that the Museum's quarterly Indian Notes, available free to Museum members, includes articles of interest to Latin Americanists. A recent article focussed on dating of Pre-Columbian pottery, for example. The Museum also published books, such as The American Indian in Graduate Studies: A Bibliography of Theses and Dissertations, compiled by Dr. Dockstader and Alice W. Dockstader, which comprises two volumes of titles which deal in any way with the Indians of North, Central and South America, the West Indies, and the Eskimo. For further information, write to the Museum, Broadway at 155th Street, New York, New York 10032.

ROBERTO ESQUENAZI-MAYO (University of Nebraska-Lincoln) has been awarded the Order of Andrés Bello for work done for the Venezuelan Festival held April 7-24, on campus and sponsored by the Venezuelan government. The award was made by ambassador Miguel Angel Burelli. Dr. Esquenazi-Mayo has been invited by the University of Sydney, Australia, to travel there in August. He also plans to visit other Latin American centers in Australia and Japan.

J.C. GARCIA MORA (Centro de Investigaciones Superiores, INAH, Mexico) has published "Agrarismo y Religión en la Sierra Tarasca," en Boletín de la Escuela de Ciencias Antropológicas de la Universidad de Yucatán, July-October issue, 1974; and "Iztapalapa, Tradicionalismo y Modernización," ibid., March-April, 1975.

KEITH A. MCDUFFIE (University of Pittsburgh), expert on the poetry of César Vallejo, has been named Chairman of the University's Department of Hispanic Languages and Literatures. He has been Chairman of the Department of Foreign Languages at the University of Montana since 1969. Prof. McDuffie has held a Spanish Government Scholarship and NDEA Title VI, Andrew Mellon Pre-doctoral and Postdoctoral Fellowships at the University of Pittsburgh.

EDWARD S. MILENKY (Boston College) has been awarded an OAS Post-Doctoral Fellowship to support four months of research on Latin America's changing role in world affairs in Argentina and Uruguay. The research will be carried out at the Institute for the Integration of Latin America of the Inter-American Development Bank in Buenos Aires.

EMILIO MORAN (University of Florida) has completed his Ph.D. dissertation on "Pioneer Farmers of the Transamazon Highway: Adaptation and Agricultural Production in the Lowland Tropics." His article on "Farming Manioc for Tropical Consumption" will appear in the November-December issue of World Crops.

MAGNUS MÖRNER (University of Pittsburgh), Latin Americanist, has been appointed Andrew W. Mellon Professor of History beginning in September. Professor Mörner is a specialist in social and agrarian history; his publications deal with a wide variety of topics such as race relations, the Jesuits, and the history of Scandinavian relations with Latin America. He has been Director of the Institute of Latin American Studies in Stockholm since 1969, and a visiting professor at UCLA, Cornell, Columbia, Queens College (New York), and Texas.

ERMINIO G. NEGLIA (University of Toronto) has announced the publication of two books, Aspectos del teatro moderno hispanoamericano, Bogotá: Editorial Stella, 1975, and Repertorio selecto del teatro hispanoamericano contemporáneo, co-authored with Luis Ordaz, Caracas: Editorial Giannelli, 1975.

ALFRED L. PADULA, JR. (University of Maine, Portland-Gorham) has completed his dissertation, "The Fall of the Bourgeoisie: Cuba, 1959-1961," and was awarded a Ph.D. in History by the University of New Mexico in December, 1974. He is currently teaching Latin American history.

JOHN POLLOCK (Livingston College, Rutgers University) became the Director of the Latin American Institute, Rutgers University in July, 1974, elected for a three-year term. He is currently investigating the ideology of journalism and journalists within the U.S. and tracing its impact on U.S. reporting of Latin America. He is also preparing a reader on the subject, and studying the presentation of Latin America in social studies texts used in high schools and middle schools.

GEORGE PRIMOV (University of Missouri-Columbia) is in the preliminary stages of putting together an anthology of articles which are condensations of doctoral dissertations. Each of the approximately 12 dissertations is based on research conducted in Peru between 1970 and 1974. The dissertations are in the fields of Anthropology, Political Science, History, Linguistics, and Sociology. It is expected that the anthology will be published by the Instituto de Estudios Peruanos.

JOAQUIN ROY (Emory University) was invited by the University of Madrid to attend the XVII Congress of the International Institute of Iberoamerican Literature (Madrid-Seville, March 20-26, 1975). He presented a paper entitled "Nuevos senderos para la crítica literaria," in the Madrid session on literary criticism and participated in the closing discussions held in Seville. He also presented a paper entitled "Towards a semantic (generative-transformational) understanding of Altazor, by Vicente Huidobro," at the University Center in Georgia Foreign Language Meeting held in Athens, Georgia, April 15.

REGIONAL

News of Regional Associations
Kenneth J. Grieb
Regional Newsletter Coordinator
LASA Regional Liaison Committee

To facilitate interchange among the regional associations, the LASA Regional Liaison Committee established a semiannual regional news column. This is the third such column, prepared during March, 1975. In accordance with the regular format, the regional associations which are members of the Regional Liaison Committee are listed in alphabetical order, though only those member groups for which news has been received are included. As in the past, each newsletter editor should feel free to edit out the portions of the column dealing with his own group, as these events have been previously reported in its own newsletter in greater detail.

At present, the regional news column is appearing in the newsletters of all the regional associations and the national LASA Newsletter, and is also being reproduced in the newsletters of several Latin American Studies Centers. Any editors wishing to receive a copy of the column may do so by contacting the Regional Newsletter Coordinator.

Regional Liaison Committee Session

The LASA Regional Liaison Committee convened in San Francisco November 14, 1974, in conjunction with the 5th National Meeting of LASA. Groups represented at the meeting included MALAS, NECLAS, PCCLAS, RMCLAS, SECOLAS, SULA, and the NCCLA, which joined the committee at this session. Representatives of the LASA Executive Council were also present.

Each of the regional association representatives summarized the activities of his group during the past year, providing information regarding meeting schedules, program planning, newsletters and special projects. Comparisons regarding such items as publication costs and circulation of newsletters, publication costs of meeting proceedings, and participation of individuals from other regions in the programs were made, and information was exchanged regarding on-going projects.

Contacts between LASA and the regional organizations also constituted a topic of discussion. It was felt that such contacts were improving. The LASA Executive Council was regularly represented at the Regional Liaison Committee meetings, and it was noted that as Paul Doughty of the University of Florida would replace David Chaplin as the LASA Executive Council representative of the Regional Liaison Committee, the presence of an ex-president of LASA as its representative indicated the importance which LASA attached to the contacts with regional associations. Another visible sign of increased contact was evident in the fact that the new Editor of the Latin American Research Review, John Martz, had spoken to various regional groups, including MALAS and PCCLAS. Chairman Phil Johnson reported that the LASA Executive Council was considering the Regional Liaison Committee's proposed budget, for inclusion in new LASA grant applications.

Inter-American Council

During the 1974-75 academic year, the Inter-American Council held monthly luncheon meetings with the following speakers: Luigi Einaudi, Policy Planning Staff of the State Department on "The Current State of U.S.-Latin American Relations;" Galo Plaza, Secretary General of the OAS, on "What's New with the New Dialogue?"; Robert W. Fox, Inter-American Development Bank, on "The Urban Explosion in Latin America;" Peter F. Klaren, George Washington University, on "Rural Labor Systems in Peru, 1850-1950;" and Rev. Frederick A. McGuire, Division for Latin America of the U.S. Catholic Conference, on "The Present Role of the Church in Latin America."

On April 11, 1975, a one-day "Symposium on the Caribbean" will be held at American University. Panels will focus on the literature, history, politics, and diplomacy of the region.

MALAS

The 16th Annual Meeting of the Midwest Association for Latin American Studies will convene October 24-25, 1975, at Iowa State University in Ames, Iowa. "Rural Life and Agrarian Problems in Latin America" will be the program theme, with sessions devoted to various subtopics. The 1976 meeting will be keyed to the United States bicentennial celebration, focusing on United States-Latin American relations. It will be held during October, 1976, at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The February, 1975, issue of the MALAS Newsletter contained the announcement that MALAS has been certified by the Treasury Department as a nonprofit organization. Newsletter

Editor Kenneth J. Grieb announced that this would enable distribution of the Newsletter via third class postage, effecting a considerable cost saving to the group and allowing a considerable expansion of news coverage. He announced that in the future the October and December Newsletter issues would be mailed via first class postage, to assure rapid dissemination of meeting information, while the February and April issues would be distributed via third class postage. It is anticipated that the latter two issues will be expanded in size, enabling increased news and bibliographical coverage.

MALAS President Roberto Esquenazi-Mayo announced the appointment of Kenneth J. Grieb as Chairman of the 1975 MALAS Nominating Committee. The full committee membership and a call for nominations from the general membership will be announced in the April Newsletter.

NCCLA

The North Central Council of Latin Americanists joined the Regional Liaison Committee at the San Francisco meeting, and henceforth will participate in the committee activities and be included in this news column. The NCCLA evolved from the former Wisconsin Council of Latin Americanists, which was founded during 1966. In 1973 the group voted to change its name and become the North Central Council of Latin Americanists, in recognition of the fact that its membership extended well beyond the boundaries of the state of Wisconsin. Current officers include President G. Michael Riley, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee; Vice-President Virgil Holder, University of Wisconsin-La Crosse; Secretary Treasurer John Harrigan, Hamline University; and Program Chairman Clarence Zuvekas, Moorhead State College. The NCCLA Secretariat is located at the Center for Latin America of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. The NCCLA meets twice a year, in the fall and spring.

The spring meeting of the NCCLA will be held at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh, April 10-12, 1975. The sessions include papers from several disciplines, dealing with both historical and current questions. The principal speakers will be Martin Needler of the Division of Inter-American Affairs, University of New Mexico, who will discuss "New Directions in United States-Latin American Policy;" Anatoli Glinkin, Vice-Director of the Latin American Institute of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences, Moscow; and Roberto Esquenazi-Mayo of the Institute of International Studies, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, who will discuss "Venezuela in Inter-American Relations." For further information, contact Kenneth J. Grieb,

Chairman of the Local Arrangements Committee, University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh.

During 1975 the NCCLA will sponsor two special awards designed to encourage study of Latin America, particularly at the high school level. Beginning in 1975, the NCCLA will award an annual $200 scholarship to help provide travel to Latin America for a high school teacher of history of social studies from the region who has not previously had the opportunity to travel to Latin America. In addition, a one-time-only award will be made during 1975, consisting of a $200 stipend to help bring a professional teacher of folkloric dance from a Latin American country to do demonstration teaching at a Latin American workshop in the Milwaukee area.

NECLAS

The New England Council of Latin American Studies has announced the cancellation of its planned charter flight to Rio de Janeiro. This reflects time scheduled imposed by airlines regarding firm commitments and the pace of the response to the initial announcement. Although many indicated an interest, a sufficient number of deposits was not obtained in time to allow retention of the airplane.

Efforts will be made to sponsor a similar flight during December, 1975, when it is hoped that the success of 1973 will be duplicated. Interested individuals should plan accordingly and keep in touch with NECLAS for planning purposes.

RMCLAS

The 1975 RMCLAS meeting will be held April 24-26, 1975, at the American Graduate School of International Management in Glendale, Arizona. Eighteen panels, spanning numerous disciplines and encompassing topics of various eras, will be conducted.

RMCLAS is presently surveying its membership regarding interest in the formation of a journal to be published annually by the association. At the present time the RMCLAS Newsletter does print book reviews, but an expansion to a journal format would enable publication of many of the papers from the annual conference and other articles.

SECOLAS

April 17-19, 1975, are the dates for the SECOLAS annual meeting at Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia. The general theme will be "New Directions in Latin American Studies," with sessions focusing upon methodological approaches to both research and teaching. Sessions will deal with "An Interdisciplinary Dialogue on Traditional Maintenance vs. Revolution in Latin America," "The Uses of Data Banks in Latin American Research," "New Directions in Development of Latin American Studies at the Primary and Secondary Levels," and "Latin American Studies Administration and Publications." The banquet address on the evening of April 18 will be delivered by Federico Gil, Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, who will speak on "The Future of United States-Latin American Relations." The luncheon speaker will be Ivan Schulman, Department of Spanish, University of Florida, who will discuss "Reflections on Cuba and the Antislavery Literature."

The 197 SECOLAS meeting will be held Florida International University in Miami. Program Chairman is Lawrence A. Clayton, Department of History, University of Alabama. The program theme will be "The Role of Foreigners in Latin America."

At present a SECOLAS committee is engaged in studying possible constitution revisions. The committee is headed by Manuel Ramírez, University of Georgia. The Southeastern Latin Americanist newsletter of SECOLAS prints brief articles and book notes, in addition to news items.

SCOLAS

"Latin America During the 20th Century" was the program theme of the SCOLAS annual meeting, held March 14-15, 1975 at Sam Houston State University in Huntsville, Texas.

SULA

The State University (of New York) Latin Americanists will hold their annual meeting April 12, 1975, at SUNY-Buffalo. "Bilingual and Bi-Cultural Education" will be the program theme.

SULA is presently considering expansion of its newsletter to provide additional news coverage to the members, and is also engaged in preparing a descriptive brochure to be used in a membership campaign.

LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES ASSOCIATION

Founded and Incorporated May, 1966

PURPOSES

The Latin American Studies Association is a charitable and educational body. It is a national, non-profit learned society of scholars and specialists that fosters the interests, both educational and professional, of persons concerned with the study of Latin America and that promotes education through more effective teaching, training, and research. The Association provides both a forum and an instrumentality for treating matters of common interest to the scholarly disciplines and to individuals concerned with Latin American studies.

MEMBERSHIP AND DUES

Persons and institutions having these educational and scholarly concerns in matters related to Latin America are welcomed to membership. Membership is not restricted to United States citizens. Persons and institutions seeking membership should apply to: LASA, Box 13362 University Station, Gainesville FL 32604. Annual dues for Members are $15; and Graduate Student Associates $8. Checks should be made payable to Latin American Studies Association. Dues include receipt of the Association's publications for one year.

ORGANIZATION

The activities of the Association are directed by an Executive Council of nine scholars, including the immediate Past President, President, Vice-President (President-Elect for the following year), and six elected members, two of whom are elected annually by the voting membership of the Association. The several scholarly programs of the Association are fostered by committees appointed by the Executive Council including Scholarly Resources, ECALAS, Academic Freedom and Human Rights, U.S. Press Coverage of Latin America, Teaching of Latin American Studies at All Levels, Women in Latin American Studies, Regional Liaison, and LARR Editorial Board, as well as ad hoc committees for special research and inter-American liaison.

CONSORTIUM OF LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES PROGRAMS (CLASP)

The Consortium is the national organization of institutions of higher education offering study related to Latin America and is in effect the institutional arm of LASA. Formed in the fall of 1968, the Consortium provides the institutional dimension for the realization of the educational purposes of the Association. Cooperative activities are arranged through the Steering Committee of the Consortium, while liaison is maintained through the Executive Secretariat which serves both organizations. Annual dues for 1975 are $50. 1974 Steering Committee: Charles A. Hale, Chpn. (U. of Iowa), Robert J. Alexander (Rutgers U.), Carl W. Deal (U. of Illinois), John Finan (American U.), Marshall R. Nason (U. of N. Mexico), Mary Ellen Stephenson (Mary Washington Coll.), Philip B. Taylor, Jr. (U. of Houston), Doris J. Turner (Kent State U.), Miriam Williford (Winthrop Coll.). Chpn. for 1975: Doris J. Turner (Kent State U.)

PUBLICATIONS

The Latin American Research Review is the official publication of the Association. The Review is published in three issues annually. The LASA Newsletter, a quarterly release of the Secretariat, is the basic news organ of the Association. Announcements and news items for the Newsletter should be sent to the Secretariat. It is available to the membership of the Association and by separate subscriptions at $10 per calendar year.
