

Walsh School of Foreign Service Center for Latin American Studies

Since its founding in 1959, Georgetown's Center for Latin American Studies has been at the forefront of U.S. relations with the region. Located in the Walsh School of Foreign Service, its mission embraces cross-disciplinary research on the hemisphere's cultures, history, and political and economic development, as well as the formation of the next generation of leaders and innovators in service to Latin America.

The Master of Arts in Latin American Studies at SFS is a 36-credit program designed for students pursuing careers in government, business, and international organizations in the U.S. and abroad as well as those who contemplate additional post-graduate work in the humanities or social sciences. While most students complete the degree in two years on a full-time basis, part-time and accelerated options are available as well. Study abroad programs offered in Bogota, Colombia, Santiago, Chile, and Sao Paulo, Brazil.
